

January 20, 2023

Good morning! It's Rainie from the S.E.A.L. Team, here with you all for another S.E.A.L. Summary Friday.

Are you organized? Organization is an important factor in life. Think about what would happen to everyone in their lives if they weren't organized. It would be absolute chaos. The point is, everyone needs a little bit of organization in their lives. Organization makes life easier by a ton. Let's say you're super messy and you have to look for a pair of socks under a mountain of clothing. That might take you a while, another problem that organizing could fix. Another way of organizing is to organize your life. Make schedules and to-do lists and reminders to help you remember things. That way you can ensure you probably won't forget important events ever again!

As previously mentioned before in another announcement, January is BE ORGANIZED MONTH/GET ORGANIZED MONTH. If you aren't organized, don't worry. You still have a whole month's time to organize your life and yourself. Also, the second quarter has ended, so make sure to use this time to do better in the 3rd quarter. Use this quarter to improve your grades if you're not doing so well.

Now please take this time to recite the S.E.A.L. pledge with me:

Thanks for listening have a Find Your Niche Friday 😊
