Good morning, everyone! It's Zia from class 851 here for Words of Wisdom Wednesday on behalf of the S.E.A.L. Team.

Today is a day to celebrate the flower that can share more than just beauty. A plant that can share all kinds of love. Roses. Today is Rose Day.

Rose Day is a day to express appreciation to the people you care about. Most of the time, roses are given to express affection and feeling. For example, red roses are most often used to show the deep passion and love you have for another individual. Yellow roses may be used to express friendship and joy. Blue roses can symbolize respect, appreciation, and maybe unrequited love, which would be having romantic feelings for someone who doesn't feel the same way about you. And so on.

Aside from the striking petals of this flower, there are also the thorns that prick you. Like life, thorns are prickly, or difficult. Sometimes we struggle and face challenges that we never thought we'd have to overcome. Like picking a rose from a rose bush!

This day is important because it carries a special significance to what roses symbolize.

Affirmation of the day- I value the feelings and emotions of others.

Thanks for listening and have a We Can Show Love with Roses

Wednesday 😊
